REQUIRED TEXTS:
   *James A. Henretta et al., America’s History: Vol. 1 to 1877, 5th ed. (Boston: Bedford/St. Martin’s, 2004).

DESCRIPTION: This course is a survey of the United States after the Civil War. Key topics include the rise of industrial and urban dominance; the struggles affecting agriculture and industrial labor; the growth of the American empire; and the increasing role of government in American life.

REQUIREMENTS: The ability to read with a questioning mind and to write essay answers to examinations are essential to performing well in this course. Students are responsible for knowing the material that is presented—both in the lectures and in the textbooks. To accomplish this, students should be “active learners” in the sense that they would seek to accomplish more than memorization and passive absorption of reading and lecture material. Students are responsible for fulfilling all of the required assignments.

OBJECTIVES: The primary goals of this course are to increase students’ understanding of how the United States developed and to foster critical thinking on important historical issues. The successful completion of this course will help you to:
1. Understand the basic components and ideas of the American political system and the roles of individual citizens, as well as government leaders.
2. Realize the influence of the multinational and multicultural roots of the present United States, and the role of diversity in the formation of basic institutions.
3. Explain the reasons for industrialization and urbanization, and their impact on U.S. society.
4. Analyze the patterns of immigration and their influence on social and economic institutions.
5. Explain the causes and effects of the Great Depression and World War II.
6. Describe and analyze the growing involvement of the United States in world affairs in the 20th century, and its emergence as a superpower after WWII.

(OVER)
7. Understand and analyze the sources and effects of the civil rights movement.
8. Develop and enhance such vital intellectual skills as reading, writing, analysis, and synthesis.

ASSIGNMENTS: Students will take three exams (each worth 150 points) and three multiple-choice quizzes (each worth 100 points). Students who miss one of the first three exams must take a comprehensive final exam. If students miss more than one exam, they will receive a 0 for the exam they missed. Quizzes cannot be made up.

Other important details:
* Students must use pen and exam books when taking exams;
* Cheating and plagiarism will result in a grade of 0 for that assignment, and may lead to other penalties—among these, receiving a grade of “F” for this course.

MAKEUP EXAMS: The makeup exam (comprehensive, essay format) will be given during the week of scheduled final exams (December 17-22, 2005). This will be the ONLY TIME that students can take a makeup exam in this class. Moreover, students who qualify may take ONLY ONE makeup exam (no exceptions).

ATTENDANCE: Regular class attendance is essential in order to perform well in this course; therefore, attendance is required. Students who miss more than four (4) class meetings—for any reason—will be withdrawn from the class. Two tardies—coming in after roll is taken—will equal one absence. It is the student’s responsibility to tell the professor at the end of the class period if he/she comes in late. Attendance at exams is mandatory. (If you miss a regularly scheduled exam, then see the section above on makeup exams.)

FINAL WORD: At his discretion, the instructor will consider on a case-by-case basis any and all requested exceptions to the policies put forth in this syllabus. The instructor reserves the right to alter these policies as he deems necessary. However, there are no guarantees that any and all requested exceptions can and will be made.

CLASS DECORUM:
* Please treat everybody with courtesy, decency, and respect.
* Please turn off cell phones and beepers during class time. This means you!
* Monroe Community College policy prohibits smoking and the use of mouth tobacco in the classroom. Please use the designated areas for this purpose.
GRADE SCALES: I do not use a curve in computing grades, either for individual assignments or for a student’s overall grade. I will consider improvement in calculating a student’s final grade.
